

Dear Lisa,
Great news! Due to all the positive feedback we've received about our Hot Tips, we've decided to continue sending them through the end of the year.

Hot Tip #5

How to save money on hourly labor charges...

Anytime you require labor to be performed whether it's your car, house, yard, or for something at your office, it's going to cost you money. Labor isn't cheap, but here are some tips to help you avoid some of the costs. Labor cost can dramatically be reduced if you prepare. For the painter that came to my house today, preparing meant moving everything away from the house so he could do his job quickly and efficiently. For phone or computer technicians that usually means several things.

- Having access to the key to phone closet or server room available before we get there will cut down on some unproductive time being billed.
- Getting help to move that HUGE hand carved credenza you picked up on your last jaunt to the antique mall that is blocking the wall and all of your outlets that need to be checked is definitely a money saver.
- Clearing a path where you know we have to work is also a good idea and can save you some time.

Remember, when you're paying by the hour you'll want to assist getting the company in and out quickly without compromising the integrity of the job.
